Photo Sharing Terms of Use: Sending this agreement with the photo/video CD/DVD signifies my agreement to the terms stated herein. I understand the intent is to publish the attached photos in publicly available slideshows on MarineParents.com owned web sites or other publications. I verify that I am the original photographer of all attached photos and they are not copyrighted by any other individual or entity. I understand there is no intent for the MarineParents.com organization to protect copyright interests in the photos. I understand MarineParents.com, Inc. reserves the right to refuse publishing any photo(s). I hereby grant permission for MarineParents.com, Inc. to use the photos on the organization's web sites, slideshows and/or other publications.

Your photos may be included in an existing slide show of the same event and date. Credit for the photo will be given to the photographer when the information is available. When possible, visible military nametapes or last names will be edited by volunteers and/or staff or the photo will not be published. Last names will not be used in captions or to identify the photographer/submitter.

Copies of the photos used in slide shows or web sites will be publicly available on MarineParents.com, Inc. owned web site(s), message board(s), newsletter(s), and/or commercial photo sharing web site(s) used for slide show presentations. Due to the nature of the Internet, the organization makes no guarantee, stated or implied, that the photos will not be copied or downloaded by Internet users for use other than stated.

MarineParents.com will not distribute your original photos to any other third party, including but not limited to individuals, members, companies and/or other organizations.

MarineParents.com reserves the right to refuse publishing any photo for any reason and without qualification. Photos submitted through photos@marineparents.com may be used in printed material or other web sites without additional permission from the submitter/photographer.
